

The Golden Bird

Once there was a poor man. He lived with his wife and his seven children.

The golden bird flew down to the poor man and laid a golden egg.

The man woke up and found the egg.

But the man thought to himself, "I'm going to catch the bird so that it'll lay more golden eggs for me."

The golden bird flew by again and was surprised that the man was still poor.

The next day, the man went back to the forest.

Perhaps my egg rolled off, so he didn't see it.

To be continued...