

Summer is a season for fun, excitement, and adventure, but getting away from the hustle and bustle of the usual summer activities and spending a day in the serenity of Muskoka is also a memorable experience.

Step into the past by getting on board the Segwun, the oldest operating steamship in North America. This steamship is so quiet that you won't notice she is leaving the dock until you hear the deep steam whistle that announces her departure. Enjoy the picturesque scenery, the wide open sky, and the relaxing breeze as you cruise Lake Muskoka. Don't forget to send yourself or your family and friends mail from the steamship, since it will be stamped with the signature of this grand old mail ship.

A ride on the famous Portage Flyer is as relaxing and enjoyable as cruising on board the Segwun. This train has two coaches pulled by a steam locomotive made in 1926. Visit the Rotary Village Station Museum to explore the history of the Portage Flyer and the local steamships. You can also send yourself a real telegraph transmitted in Morse code from the telegraph office, which operates every Wednesday only in July and August.

Who says summer is only for excitement?

Beautiful MUSKOKA
