

The Llamas and the Flood

Part 1

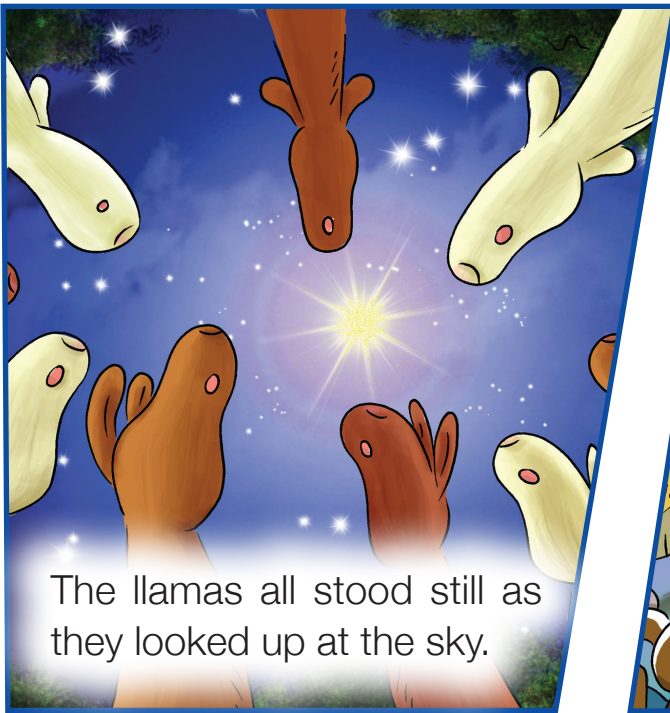

Once there were two brothers. They were shepherds living in the countryside.

The shepherds tended llamas. Every day, they took their llamas to the hills for some fresh grass.

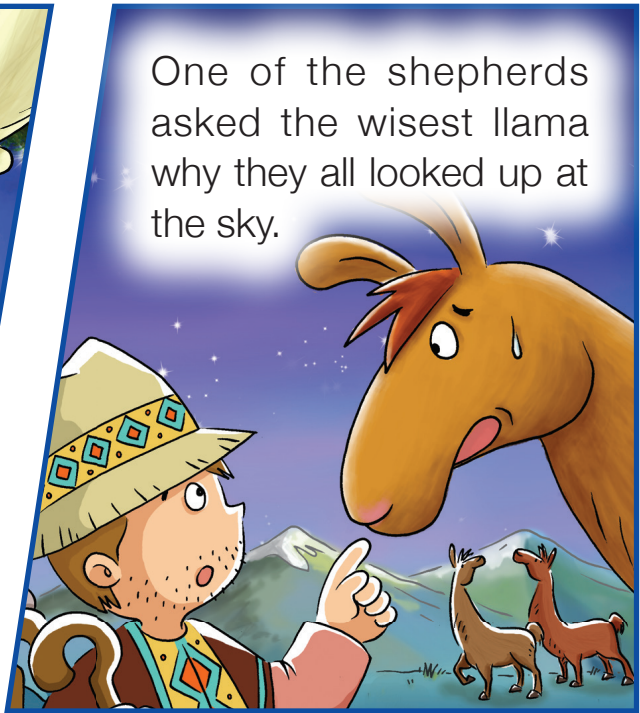

One evening, the llamas suddenly stopped eating.

The llamas all stood still as they looked up at the sky.

One of the shepherds asked the wisest llama why they all looked up at the sky.

There's an important message in the stars. The stars say there will be a dangerous flood.

We must go to the mountains! There's a flood coming.

The shepherds quickly ran home and told their wives and children about the sign.

To be continued...